

Erklärung des Materials (explanation of the material)

Important: For this module you need a separate folder for the work sheets that you need to bring along for the duration of the module (approx. 4 lessons)

In order to be prepared for ZP 10 there are mandatory and voluntary parts in this module that you need to work on. Take only paper copies and tell your teacher if a station is missing.

Part 1 – Typical mistakes (mandatory)

Take a station sheet and a work sheet from each task (8 tasks in total). Once you have completed the tasks, you can check and – if needed – correct them. Afterwards, check the “completed” box and evaluate the difficulty of the station for you.

Should a station turn out to be difficult, you are free to check the grammar in last semester’s module “Time Travelers” and brush up on it.

Part 2 – Writing (mandatory & voluntary)

Browse through the different stations of the second part and choose the text type, you are the most unfamiliar with. The stations are:

- How to write an ending to a story
- How to write a speech
- How to write a diary entry
- How to write a comment
- How to write a blog entry
- How to write a written discussion

Work on the most unfamiliar one first. You must work on 3 stations (mandatory). If you choose “diary entry” you must also work on “blog entry”, which then makes a total of 4. However, you are free to work on as many stations as you want (remember: there is a high chance that any of these might come up in the ZP10). After each of these stations you will find an evaluation sheet that a partner needs to fill out for you – and vice versa. So, find someone who has worked on the same text type and evaluate your hearts out 😊

Part 3 – Words words words (voluntary)

The stations titled “Wortschatzarbeit” are voluntary, hence: you need to work on those if you want to expand your vocab. It’s never a bad idea to do so.

Have all of your materials with you when you work on the module as your teacher might want to check them at any given time throughout the semester. The module must be ready by May 3rd 2024.

Test – before the ZP10 and after May 3rd there will be a mandatory test on logineo that you must take.
